WHAT IS ELECTRICAL DISTRIBUTION?

Electrical distribution is a cutting-edge industry that buys, sells, and delivers thousands of products from manufacturing companies to users such as electrical and building contractors, factory maintenance, do-it-yourself, and service professionals. Although the industry deals with products, the focus is on building strong bonds with our customers and our fellow associate employees.

Where Can You Find These Careers?

The National Association of Electrical Distributors (NAED) represents more than 4,200 locations nationwide. Our member distributors employ more than 75,000 associates within locations in every state and U.S. territory.

MANUFACTURERS OF ELECTRICAL PRODUCTS SUCH AS...
Residential/Commercial/Industrial lighting & fan fixtures, cable & wire, connectors & boxes, manual and sensing switches & dimmers, integrated switchboards & circuit breakers, voice-data-video equipment, security systems, power transmission and distribution equipment, and manual/power hand tools.
